Barbering and Hairdressing

Jignesh Madhavji started his career as a Barbering Apprentice specialising in 'imaging' – cutting shapes into hair. He now combines his work at Chet's Barbers, where his responsibilities include opening and closing the salon, with a second career in a ladies' hair salon.

Benefits

Jignesh has no doubt that being an apprentice has had a huge impact on his career prospects, as he explains:

"Being an apprentice has helped me shape a career for myself. Since starting my Apprenticeship I have grown in confidence, and I now have drive and determination to be the best in my field."

Why an Apprenticeship?

Jignesh is very ambitious and dedicated to succeeding in his career. He chose to undertake an Apprenticeship because he believed that it was the best route into the career of his dreams, giving him the opportunity to gain valuable vocational qualifications while at the same time putting his training into practice in a working environment.

What Next?

Having completed Apprenticeships in Barbering and Hairdressing Jignesh is now working on his Advanced Apprenticeship in Hairdressing. His career, meanwhile, goes from strength to strength, and he has his own website, clients from all over the country and has appeared as an expert on the BBC's 'Celebrity Scissorhands'.
